

FOON LOK EAST

FAMILY HOUSING

Oakland, CA

Foon Lok East is a part of Brooklyn Basin, a master-planned community along Oakland's waterfront that will provide 3,100 new homes for people of all ages and income levels within a vibrant, 64-acre, mixed-use district that includes retail, parks and open spaces. Foon Lok means "Joyous Community" in Cantonese and provides 124 affordable rental apartments for low- and extremely low-income working families and individuals experiencing homelessness.

Foon Lok East is the fourth and final phase of affordable housing at Brooklyn Basin, totaling 465 units. Foon Lok East and neighboring Foon Lok West connect via the podium garage and operate as one property. It is located across from Brooklyn Basin's renovated and repurposed 9th Ave. Terminal and Township Commons public park. Local artists and students created the original artwork curated throughout the public spaces, including an exterior mural on the building's northeast corner.

Residents of Foon Lok East enjoy community amenities including a multi-purpose community room, computer lab, learning center, secured bicycle parking, and a landscaped courtyard with playground and BBQ area.
